WHAT HAPPENED TO PARKER

Coming Wednesday Night September 19th., At The Opera House.

Forget your troubles, your smile will make somebody else happier. If you are happy, come share that priceless possession with someone else. If you are unhappy, come catch a gleam of joy from those who know just how to find the silver lining to every cloud. Bring your friends with you to see "What Happened To Parker." A new play, brim full of laughable situations and hinged on a plot that is guaranteed to please. Given for the benefit of the Crittenden County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Cast of Characters.

Fred Parker, a wholesale dry good merchant who is jealous of his beautiful young wife, perhaps the most important character of the story played by one who needs no introduction to Marion's lovers of good plays. Mr. Ernest Carnahan.

William Torrence, his partner, well done by - Neil Guess.

Jeremiah Growler, a retired business man who has nothing to do but to hunt doctors for his many ills. A mild old gentleman who always keeps his temper. If you want to laugh, see Hollis C. Franklin as the man with many ills.

James Jones, a quack doctor with a love for Hebe, Growler's niece, but with a greater love for Growler's money. If plain Jim Jones fails to make you see the sunshine, then your case is hopeless. Another splendid role for Virgil Threlkeld.

Mr. Harrison, a capitalist from Chicago. (Come see who he is.) Police, Sergeant Ripley. A part "up to the minute" by Orval Lamb.

Otto, the fun making servant who gets his tongue as well as the truth twisted at times, but who is there with the goods when it comes to the "laughing time." Clifton Crawford.

Vivian, Parkers wife, a star part played by one who knows the "how" of successful stage work. Miss Lena Holtzclaw.

Mildred Green her maiden aunt, who is the "boss" of all her connections and a firm believer in "woman's rights." A laugh in every line. Miss Leaffa Wilborn.

Hebe, Growler's niece, who is very attentive to her uncle but who is not averse to making new acquaintances. Cleverly done by Miss Mary Dollar.

Cora, the maid, another good servant part, well played by Miss Gussie Burgett.

Don't forget the date, Wednesday night, Sept. 19th.

Mrs. Pearl McAdams and daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth, and two sons, Milton and Geo. Newman, have returned home, and the young folks have entered school. Mrs. McAdams and her daughter have been visiting relatives for the past two weeks in Louisville and Hawesville, while the boys have been at work on the farm since school closed here last spring. Milton felt quite proud and justly so, to take part of his earnings and buy railroad tickets for the whole family to come home. He got in 76 days' work during the summer and has his same job clinched for next summer, if he wants it.

"WHAT HAPPENED TO PARKER"

A Splendid Home Talent Play, To Be Given For The Benefit Of The Red Cross.

Within the next few weeks, Miss Lena Holtzclaw with the assistance of the players who made such a name for themselves in their clever presentation of Richard Brensley Sheridan's classic comedy, "The Rivals" last spring will offer another comedy. A play even better than "The Rivals" in many ways for the benefit of the Crittenden Co. Chapter of the AMERICAN RED CROSS. Watch for the date and be prepared to spend a most enjoyable evening with the people who really know how to entertain; and at the same time be helping a cause which is worthy of the support of every man and woman in the land.

Look over the cast of characters and know what to expect.

Messrs. Hollis Franklin, Virgil Threlkeld, Ernest Carnahan, Clifton Crawford, Neil Guess, Orville Lamb and Misses Lena Holtzclaw, Leaffa Wilborn, Mary Dollar and Gussie Burgett.

For Sale.

Another Monument

At Cooksylville.

A beautiful memorial has just been placed at the grave for John A. Myers in the Cooksylville Cemetery. This is the first monument to be erected in this cemetery for several years. It was made by Henry & Henry at Marion, Ky.

City Mayor Resigns.

Mayor George W. Stone having sold his property in the city and hence becoming disqualified to act as mayor, tendered his resignation to the city council Monday evening which was accepted. Mr. Stone has served the city as Mayor for nearly four years. His four year term would have expired Jan. 1, next and in all this time he has been conscientious and painstaking. He has looked after the peoples interests and business honestly and has endeavored to deal fairly with all. Mr. Stone has made a good official and he will retire from office with a clear conscience and with the kindest feelings from most of our people.

He no doubt has made some enemies, but these come often from duty well performed and are generally not deserved.

Mr. Stone will live on his farm adjoining the city limits but will maintain his office in the Press building.

2 CENT DROP In The Price Of Coal!

At last that long looked for drop in the price of COAL has come. I am now selling my Best Lump Coal at 14 cents at the car. This will be a saving to you of 2 cents on the bushel.

As I see it, I believe it would be a good idea to begin at once to lay in your winter's supply, as it is going to be harder to get than it was last year.

Remember that my yards are still at the same place. I have increased my yard room and will do my best to have plenty of coal at all times

Yours For Better Coal

MAURIE NUNN THE COAL MAN.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CARELESS MASTER.

"A horse," said Daddy, "was very thirsty.

"I don't know how I can go on working so hard without a drink," he was trying to tell his master. But his master paid no attention.

"One time his master stopped and got a drink of soda-water. 'I was so thirsty,' his master said to a friend. But he did not think of his horse being thirsty. The horse had been delivering bundles and carrying a heavy wagon behind him all day. Of course, he had stopped and rested, and he had had his dinner of oats. But, oh, how hard it was not to be given a drink. Couldn't his master tell he wanted a drink?

"He turned his great eyes on his master, and tried so hard to say: 'A drink, Master. Please, a drink.'

"He neighed and did all he could to make his master understand, but the master was thoughtless. He was not really cruel; he just didn't think—and sometimes when People don't think, and are thoughtless, it is almost as bad as being cruel—for sometimes it amounts to the same thing.

"That's a fine horse you have, someone told his master.

"Yes, he's a fine animal,' the master replied. So, you see, he really did care for his horse; but, oh, he was so thoughtless, so careless and the poor horse was suffering through his carelessness.

"On and on they went. The horse's tongue became so dry. He hung it out of his mouth, but the master didn't notice—not even when he gave him a pat as he came out from a house where he had left a package.

"Now, a little fairy was hovering nearby. The fairy was the Princess Joy and she was in her long dress of mist-fog material. For the day was misty and there was a light fog. But not enough rain had fallen for the horse to wet his tongue. He had tried to hold his mouth open and get a drink that way but the rain drops were not coming down. They were feeling shy and not like a trip to the earth.

"I'm so thirsty," said the horse again to himself.

"Thirsty," said the Princess Joy. 'Why doesn't your master give you something to drink? You're a good horse. You go wherever he wants you to go—and so willingly too. You're so loyal and you are nice with his children and let them play with you whenever they want to. Can't he give you a drink?

"I'm So Thirsty," Said the Horse.

"He has forgotten," said the horse. 'He doesn't mean to be cruel. He has just forgotten—that's all.'

"Well, we'll attend to that," said the Fairy Princess Joy.

"Now she knew that the horse's master and the ice man did not like each other. 'I'll attend to this,' she said to herself.

"The ice man was delivering ice from house to house along the same street where the Master was delivering his parcels. The ice man had his ice in a little hand wagon he was pushing along himself.

"You shall have some fine ice water," whispered the fairy to the horse. 'The best of ice water.'

"The Fairy whispered to the ice man, and though he didn't know that the fairy had told him to leave his wagon in just such a place, he did so.

"Now walk up a little bit," she said to the horse.

"The horse began to lick a fine piece of ice. Ah, such a drink as he had. The ice melted so fast against his hot tongue, and there was a great deal in the side of the wagon. He licked the ice until half of a piece had gone.

"Just then the ice man and his Master came out at the same time. There was the horse having his drink.

"You owe me for a piece of ice," said the ice man. 'I can't sell that piece now. Why don't you give your horse some water? What are you—cruel to animals, eh?'

"This made the master feel very badly. 'I forgot,' he murmured. 'I shall pay you for the ice and I'll never forget again.'

"The first good speech I've heard you make. You've always been too careless and thoughtless before, but now we'll be friends, and I do believe you'll never forget your fine animal again.' And the Master agreed."

Rebuked.

"Jack, look at the nice bow-wow," said a mother to her three-year-old son, out for a walk. Jack looked as directed, then up at his mother, and said solemnly: "I call that a dog."

ALASKA STIRRED BY WITCH TERROR

Indians Are Circulating Wild Stories of Mysterious Happenings.

BLIND MAN IS WITCH

Daughter Tells of Flying by Night and Peering Into Graves—Federal Authorities Forced to Take Matter Up.

Juneau, Alaska.—Witchcraft has come back to Alaska. The Indians are circulating tales of mysterious happenings. It has reached the point where the United States government has been forced to take official cognizance of the witch terror. In the district court here J. A. Smiser, federal attorney, has questioned many witnesses.

A complaint of the practice of witchcraft among the natives of Killisnoo was made some time ago to W. G. Beattie, superintendent of native schools for Alaska. An investigation in the Killisnoo village led Superintendent Beattie to bring a number of the tribe to Juneau for examination by District Attorney Smiser, with the result the witch was found, but no law could be found on which to base a complaint against him.

Blind Man Claims Honor.

From the testimony of the witnesses examined before the district attorney, the story of the witchery centers around a blind man, his fifteen-year-old daughter and her grandmother. For several months the blind man has been announcing himself as a witch, and has claimed responsibility for practically all the deaths that have occurred in the village of Killisnoo for the past five years.

According to the story of the little native girl, Mary Moses, or Klan-toosh, as her Indian name is, the first time she knew that her father was a witch was one night a "long time ago" when she was awakened in her sleep and felt cold. She called her father and asked him for more covers, which he brought, and while covering her over, she says, he told her for the first time that he was a witch and that he wanted her to learn to be one, too, in order that she might carry on his work when he died.

He Told Her He Was a Witch.

In order that she might learn the secrets of the practice she said her father told her she must visit with him an old graveyard across the bay. Mary stated her father told her to take hold of his foot and in a moment they "flew" across the channel to the cemetery. While there she said they were able to look through the earth down into the graves, and could see the bodies in them. After wandering about the graves for a time her father transformed himself into a white duck and on his back she says she rode back across the channel. Mary told the district attorney that that night she learned many things about witchcraft.

Fears for Grandmother.

The girl's story was told with straightforwardness and without contradiction, and the reason she said she wanted something done with her father was because she feared he would kill her grandmother with witchery. The child's mother is dead and she is apparently very fond of her grandmother, and is evidently sincere in her fear of her father's power.

The only charges against her father are based upon the firm belief that he is a witch, and in that connection he is accused of being responsible for everything in the way of misfortune which has happened in the Killisnoo Indian village. In the eyes of the law, Mr. Smiser says, it does look a little like hypnotism, but nothing tangible has occurred which can be reached by law.

COURT GIVES WIFE TWO KISSES DAILY

Young Hubby Is Haled Before Judge for Failing to Show Affection.

Knoxville, Tenn.—Charged with failure to love his wife, a young hubby haled before City Judge R. P. Williams here was sentenced to kiss her twice daily.

"From the testimony of neighbors, who, as is often the case, seemed to know more about the affair than did the principals themselves, it seemed that 'temperamental incompatibility,' as it has been termed in higher courts,

Sentenced Henry to Two Kisses Daily.

'pure cussedness,' as it is known locally, was the cause of the trouble," says Judge Williams.

"You see, Henry would go home in the afternoon, and not being of a particularly affectionate nature, failed to greet his wife with a kiss. Now she, being in love with her husband, wanted to be kissed. After frequent failures of this kind on his part she charged Henry with an extreme frigidity of affections. Henry denied the allegations, affirming that he had too many serious and important things to do to consider without indulging in osculatory exercises with a woman, whom, after all, was nothing but his wife."

This enraged the wife, who proceeded to tell Henry just what she thought of him. Henry opened hostilities with a dishpan.

To make up for past omissions, and to cause him to cultivate a taste for such things, City Judge Williams sentenced Henry to two kisses daily.

Woman's Weakness for Millinery Causes Husband to Seek Separation in Court.

Chicago.—Mrs. John W. Olson's prime weakness was hats. But her husband found little interest in the millinery magazines with which their home was strewn. Neither did he enjoy standing before show windows in which Parisian creations were exhibited. That is where the trouble started.

"Billy" Stamm was twenty-two, well-tailored and good-looking. He adored millinery and he was an artist at turning out nifty headgear from a miscellaneous assortment of trimmings. Sc Stamm, being an old friend of the family, became an extremely friendly person to Mrs. Olson and finally they opened a hat store together. Then Olson left home. He has filed suit for divorce, naming Stamm, whose ability to trim hats, he alleges, has wrecked the Olson home.

FIND SKELETON WITH HORNS; A TAIL, TOO

Wheeling, W. Va.—Boys here have unearthed a skeleton closely resembling the popular idea of the devil. The skull is much like that of the present human race, with the exception of two horns, which project from just above the temples on each side. Life the creature was about four feet high, with a long tail. There are four powerful legs or arms, each of which has four fingers.

CAN'T TELL KISS BY SOUND

Momentous Decision, Handed Down by New York Judge, Rules Against Hubby.

Beacon, N. Y.—You can't tell whether it's a kiss or not by the sound alone. A momentous decision, truly, but one easily reached by Judge Willard Brockway when Herbert Jordan attempted to justify his leaving his wife because she kissed a grocer.

"How do you know she did?" asked the judge.

Jordan brought forward a neighbor who said she had heard the "sound of kissing through the keyhole." "We have to go by fact, not by sound," remarked Judge Brockway. "It might have been some other noise with a kissing sound."

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MRS. GOOSE'S

"Good morning, Mrs. Madame Swan.

Now Madame Swan was quite sure she had something to be sure for she was quite as lovely as a picture could ever hope to be.

"Good morning," said Mrs. Madame Swan.

"Are you well, quite well?"

Madame Swan.

"I'm always well," said Mrs. Goose.

"It's foolish to be sick. And so I am. At least I hardly ever get sick."

"That's good," said Madame Swan.

politely. To herself she was how conceited it was of Mrs. Goose to say that she was never sick. Her very family name meant sickness!

"Of course, of course it's good," Mrs. Goose. "Why should I be sick? You do a great deal of something interesting."

Madame Swan made no answer, she didn't want to quarrel with Mrs. Goose.

"Good Morning," Said Mrs. Goose.

Goose, who was very much given to arguments and rows.

"What do you think of the ducks?" asked Madame Swan after a moment.

"I don't think of them," said Mrs. Goose. "It's a waste of time."

"I saw Mrs. Black Duck and White Duck into the water this morning," said Madame Swan.

"Did you?" cackled Mrs. Goose. "Well, I didn't, and I am not in the least sorry that I didn't. For I am very busy."

"Does that mean you don't want me here?"

"It doesn't mean anything except that I am busy. I'm taking a little rest just now. But when I begin work again I shall not pay any attention to you. You may stay around if you want to—I don't care—but I won't answer your silly questions and remarks."

Now Madame Swan knew that Mrs. Goose was always talking about work, and so she didn't feel hurt at all. Mrs. Goose said. Besides, she had always quite amused herself about?" asked Madame Swan.

"My singing!" said Mrs. Goose, singing a shriek.

"Oh, gracious," said Madame Swan. "What are you going to sing?" To herself she thought that Mrs. Goose need not be worried for fear of her asking questions then—she would hurry away when Mrs. Goose began to sing!

"I'm going to sing a solo—which means I am going to sing all alone. Then I shall sing a duet with Mr. Gander, which means the two of us will sing together. And then there will be a chorus by the little geese, which will mean that they will all sing together. And Mr. Goose will sing by himself, too."

"And why are you so much interested in singing, pray tell?" asked Madame Swan.

"Because," said Mrs. Goose, "the other day some Grownups were passing. One of them said, 'Oh, Goodness, did you ever in all your life hear anything like that voice of the goose over there?' And the grownups pointed straight at me."

"Then another one said, 'That old fellow (meaning Mr. Gander) and all the little geese have the same sort of voices!'

"Now after that there is nothing for us to do but to sing, for we are wanting great talents when we don't."

Madame Swan had hidden her face behind her wing for she wanted to laugh so hard. Instead she gave a queer cough. "But," she said, "they didn't say they thought your voices were beautiful, did they?"

"They didn't have to say that," said Mrs. Goose. "They just spoke of our voices. They couldn't help it, for after I had thought about it I realized we all did have voices."

"But not singing voices," said Madame Swan gently. She was thinking of the earaches there would be in the farmyard if the geese family took to singing all the time, or what they called singing.

"We're not birds, nor are we warblers," said Mrs. Goose, "but we have voices. There are many who use their voices who can't sing. So if we have exceptionally fine voices or exceptionally loud ones, we'll use them—that's all."

And as Madame Swan hurried off the geese all started using their voices—their queer, shrill, ugly voices.

Rest and recreation are duties. In the rush and hurry of our present day life, it is almost absolutely essential that we get away from our everyday duties and responsibilities. This editor takes a rest each day when leaving his office by going home and milking the cows feeding the chickens and pigs and playing with the baby.

Card of Thanks.

I take this method to express my gratitude to cemetery committee for the valuable present they gave me as a birthday present but I appreciate their appreciation of my service more than the value of the present; again thanking one and all of the committee remain yours for service.

Manners

Manners have been somewhat cynically defined to be a contrivance of wise men to keep fools at a distance. Fashions is shrewd to deflect those that do not belong to her train and seldom wastes her attention. Society is very swift in its instincts and if you do not belong to it it rejects and snubs you or quietly drops you. The first weapon against the party attracted; the second is still more effective but is to be resisted as the date of the transaction it not easily found. People grow up and grow old under this infliction and never suspect the truth, ascribing the solitude which acts on them very injuriously to any cause but the right one, Emerson.

Pie Supper at Hebron.

A considerable number of people attended the pie supper at Hebron Friday night and they certainly did experience a most enjoyable and entertaining time. A number of songs were given for the benefit of the audience by the school children, and several recitations were rendered by Carrie Turner, Ebbie Wathen Cora Clift. Tremendous applause from the crowd showed that it was well pleased with the program, and the people regretted that it was not longer than what it was. When the songs and recitations were ended, the pies were all sold to the highest bidders. Tom Bracy was the auctioneer and he proved to be a most capable and efficient salesman by the manner in which he disposed of the pies. The sale of the pies was accompanied by a number of humorous and funny incidents which caused the crowd to become convulsed with laughter. After the pie had all been sold they then proceeded with the tests of eating them which proved to be a very pleasant and easy matter for the girls of the Hebron vicinity can cook food which would make a confirmed Egypt water at the mouth. This undeniable fact has caused a number of young men to contemplate the possibility of securing some of these girls for their permanent cooks at some time in the near future. If these young men are successful in realizing their dreams, it can be truly said that they will have some cooks of whom they can well be proud.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury. Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price 50¢ per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

TOM WATSON'S PAPER BARRED FROM MAILS

Savannah, Ga., Sept. 10.—Federal Judge Emory Speer, in a decision rendered at Lake Fairfield, N. C., has denied the injunction sought by the Jeffersonian Publishing Co., to compel the postmaster at Thomson, Ga., to accept the Jeffersonian under the second-class mailing privileges. Copies of the decision were received here Saturday. In his decision Judge Speer quotes frequently from copies of the Jeffersonian to show that its purpose is to "obstruct the recruiting or enlistment of men in the service of the United States," and concludes: There is, moreover, an additional consideration of the weightiest character, which obliges the denial of such an injunction as is here sought. An appeal is made to an American court of equity to oblige the postal authorities of our country to contribute its mailing facilities for the furtherance and success of a propaganda against the nation as distinct as it is truculent and dangerous. Under the familiar rule in equity, such an appeal is addressed largely to the discretion of the court. It is to be determined by the constitution of the chancellor, and always with proper regard to the public welfare. And a party seeking this extraordinary remedy, under a rule equally familiar, must come into court with clean hands when the policy, methods and efforts he would maintain may cause his hands to be imbued in the blood of the demoralized and defeated armies of his countrymen? If by such propaganda American soldiers may be convinced that they are the victims of lawless and unconstitutional oppression, vain indeed will be the efforts to make their deeds rival the glowing traditions of their hero strain. On the contrary, the world will behold America's degradation and shame, the disintegration under fire of our line of battle, the inglorious flight of our defenders, like the recent debacle of the Russian army, brought about by methods much the same, the ultimate conquest of our country, the destruction of its institutions and the perishing of popular governments on earth.

Losses of Our People.

Miss Catherine White, 24, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ford White of Helena, Arkansas, is now in New York under treatment of a specialist for some growth which has produced lameness rendering her unable to walk. The reason for this trouble is not known when she was here this summer but her mother thought it only growing pains which children often have and did not regard it as any thing serious. But shortly after her return to Helena she was stricken and her father took her at once to St. Louis, but physicians there advised him to take her to Mayo Bros. Sanitarium at Rochester, Minn., which he did. Miss Sallie Woods, of this city, her aunt who was visiting in St. Louis, at the time, accompanied them. Mayo Bros. passed the case up and advised that an eminent N. Y. surgeon be consulted, and she was taken there by her mother who is now with her and writes her relatives here that the Dr. is hopeful of his treatment and believes he can cure her with out an operation. The little lady is an unusually attractive child and was the picture of health when here, and her many friends hope she will recover the use of her limb, and be permanently cured.

Mayor Dodge.

Marion awoke Tuesday to find that the city dads had elected a new mayor at their regular monthly meeting Monday night in the person of J. F. Dodge, the genial merchant who is known to everybody in or around Marion. This selection will please everybody. Frank is a leader in church and civic improvements, a great lover of children, birds, old people and flowers and therefore can't be a very bad fellow. The fact is everybody loves Frank Dodge and we think the council made an excellent selection.

MARION
Sells the Champion Cream Saver
THE NEW DE LAVAL

THERE is no machine made in which proper lubrication is more vitally important than it is in a cream separator. A separator that is not properly oiled will turn hard and soon wear out. The old-fashioned method of oiling through a number of little holes with a squirt-can was unsatisfactory for the reason that some users would oil too much and too often, while others would not oil often enough.

The NEW De Laval is automatically oiled

You don't have to fuss around a NEW De Laval with a squirt-can. Simply keep the sight-feed lubricator on top filled with oil and the automatic oiling system will see that every gear and bearing in the machine has just the right amount of fresh, clean oil at all times.

The automatic oiling system saves time and saves trouble, makes the machine run easier and adds years to its life.

The De Laval oiling system has been greatly improved by the addition in the NEW De Laval of an automatically oiled neck bearing and the consequent elimination of the tube that formerly carried oil to this most important part.

There has never been a cream separator that embodied so many improvements as the NEW De Laval.

The new self-centering bowl with its improved milk-distributing device, and the speed indicator which insures operation at the proper speed, are two of the greatest improvements that have ever been made in cream separator construction.

Come in and see the NEW De Laval.

Showing automatic oiling of NEW De Laval.

BLACKFORD

The lonesome month of September has arrived and owing to the German-American war and other depressions, the people in this part of the Commonwealth are somewhat melancholy.

Blackford Graded School began on the 3d inst., with the following teachers: Prof. Ernest N. Pusey, of Made county, principal; with Miss Mary Bordin, of Providence; Mary Reaser and Leah Moore, of Clay; and Della Scott, of Blackford, as grade teachers. The prospects bid fair for a good school.

W. J. Deboe, of Marion, was in these parts last week telling the boys that he is a candidate for State Senator.

Samuel A. Snow, of east Crittenden, was observed passing through enroute to Evansville recently.

Dr. Frank Walker, of Farmersville, Caldwell county, was here last Saturday enroute to Clay, where he had been called to see his sister-in-law, Mrs. Belva Walker, who is dangerously ill with the typhoid fever.

D. B. Carnahan, who has been suffering from a septic trouble, is comparatively no better.

Some of the girls around about this hamlet are wearing gloomy countenances, but we believe there will be another wedding real soon if—etc.

Miss Alice Woodson, the popular milliner at this place, is now located on Third street near Blackford Bank.

Misses Mina White and Ruby Horning, of this burg, have secured schools at Clay and Lazon, Ky. Miss Mina will teach at Clay and Miss Ruby at Lazon.

Our enterprising friends, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Brown, who were married at Marion during the Crittenden Co. Teachers' Institute, left last Sunday for Toronto, Canada, for a pleasure trip. We wish them much pleasure on their northern journey.

We hereby congratulate our former Crittenden county friend, Dr. L. F. Moore, now of Jesse, Okla., who wrote an epistle which was published in last week's Record-Press. Glad to hear from you "Bud," write again.

One Of Venner's Yarns Probably.

Many papers over the state including this one published the story about the 100 per cent draft acceptance in LaRue County altho it looked too good to be true.

It is expected that the county's quota will be filled out of the 200 summoned, including those who have already been accepted or service.

Then And Now.

Twenty-five years ago when I entered the newspaper business at Calvert City, a hog came up in front of my office. When I required of him his business, he said. My master needs money and wants to sell me, and I asked him what money it would take to buy him. He remarked. I weigh 200 pounds and it will take $7 to secure me from my master. I said, you are mine, and he passed into the backyard.

Twenty-five years after that time, which was during the past few days, another hog came up in front of my office. I asked him his business. He replied. My master needs money and I come to know if you will buy me. I asked him the price. He said. I weigh 200 pounds and it will take $40 to buy me. I said, not me, and he turned and walked away, switching his tail and turning up his nose, saving that in less than one month if I got him I would have to pay $50 for him. This is an increase in the value of the hog during the past twenty-five years of over 500 per cent, but after all that, a hog is a hog, price or no price.—Editor Calvert City Times.

A MOTHER'S GRATITUDE

Many a Mother in Marion Will Appreciate the Following

Many a strong man and many a healthy woman has much for which to thank mother. The care taken during their childhood brought them past the danger point and made them healthy men and women. Thousands of children are bothered with incontinence of urine, and inability to retain it is oftentimes called a habit. It is not always the children's fault—in many cases the difficulty lies with the kidneys, and can be readily righted. A Marion mother tells how she went about it.

Mrs. G. W. Patterson, Elm & Gum streets, Marion, says: "A member of my family was troubled with a weak condition of the kidneys. This caused considerable distress when suffering with colds, as the kidney secretions come too frequent in passage at these times. I had often heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at Haynes & Taylor's Drug Store. One box cured the complaint in short order. I can certainly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to any mother who has children suffering from weak kidneys." Price 60 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Patterson recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Novel Water Heater.

One of the numerous new electric heaters has the form of a nickel tube seven inches long, with the usual cord and plug connecting to a lamp socket. The resistance coil in the tube becomes intensely hot very quickly, and it is claimed that shaving water in which the tube is immersed will be heated in less than a minute. In a little longer time small quantities of water or other liquids can be raised to boiling.

Heat Spots.

The white spots caused by hot dishes can be removed by rubbing fresh lard on them. The lard should be rubbed in with the fingers. If the spots are very bad it will be necessary to leave the lard on a few hours. It is then rubbed off with a soft cloth. The lard will not injure the finish of the table. A finely polished dining table, otherwise ruined by hot dishes, can be thus reclaimed.

The Ohio River Baptist Association.

The Ohio River Baptist Association has just closed its 39th annual session, which was held with Caldwell Spring church in Crittenden county. This was one of the best meetings in the history of the Association, and was well attended from the beginning.

The thirty-nine churches of the Association were all represented by messengers or letter. We had with us as visiting brethren, J. T. Cunningham and Rudolph Lane, of Princeton; C. T. Clark and Frank Wright, of Ohio Valley Association; B. H. Duncan, of Russellville; Zed A. Bennett, of West Union Association; H. B. Taylor, of Blood River Association; O. E. Bryan, Associate Sec'y of State Board of Missions, and J. W. Oliver, of New Mexico.

Bro. Taylor and Bro. Bryan preached in the grove on Thursday at 11 o'clock a. m., and 2:30 p. m., respectively.

The reports from the churches show an increase in membership over last year, of 529, and a decrease in total contributions of $2,494.29, this ought not to be, however, this deficit is chargeable to building and repairs as there was some building done last year that was not necessary this year. The contributions for other purposes were practically the same, this year and last, whereas there should have been a considerable increase.

Brethren, God is blessing us and there is a crying need for Missionaries, during this time of unrest, and we should get a vision of our responsibilities and opportunities and begin to render an account of our stewardship to Him.

The 1918 session of the association will be held with Friendship church in Livingston Co., beginning on Wednesday after the third Sunday in August.

The Ministers' and Members' meeting will be held with First Salem church beginning on Friday before the 5th Sunday in June. C. G. THOMPSON, Clerk.

SLANDER.

By Rev. Rufus Robinson.

The slander is well represented as a serpent with a characteristic human head coiled in the grass, striking with an arrow-tipped tongue into the bleeding heart of its victim.

It should have the wings of a bat possibly, since slander flies as well as crawls but the serpent with his venom and his ire, with his slimy slippery folds and his noiseless crawl, with his deadly coil and fatal fang, possibly, is the only fit emblem of the man or woman who stabs and kills you in character.

Jealousy and envy, prejudice and malignity are the sac of poison under the slanderer's tongue, from which he feeds his deadly fangs and which pierces your good name. Love and honor never engage in this vile business, but the slander is a total stranger to these noble instincts of the human breast. He hates his superior or else, without malice or revenge, he has a reckless disregard for truth and honest reputation for every thing lofty and good about him.

The neighborhood gossip has nothing better to do than to gratify an overwhelming desire to talk about his or her neighbor, and such people seem to find a childish delight in these base vocations.

A bit of scandal is a sugar plumb which they roll in their mouth and divide with each other, and the plumb grows as it rolls from mouth to mouth, like the five leaves and two fishes. It is impossible to comprehend the nature and character of the slanderer. We can see how much the heat of passion can say when fellows, how hunger and penury can steal, how the wreck of habit can debauch him self, but I have never been able to understand how this monster of iniquity can ruin the reputation or destroy the character of an innocent being. How infinitely worse than theft or murder or arson.

The victim of slander often endures or suffers more than theft or murder, as with a consciousness of innocence, he endures a life time of shame and contumely without the power of rectification or defense.

I once knew a minister slandered, and though his slanderer upon a dying bed confessed his crime, yet this man of God had to quit his pulpit and live and die under a cloud. Confidence once lost under a charge of great turpitude can never be entirely restored. And though one may be vindicated, yet the sense of character lost is so keen and delicate that many will suspicion still the victim of slander, once blackened in spite of vindication. It is hard to get the smell of burned clothes off, and people will associate you, justly or unjustly, with your reputation long after the stain has been obliterated from your character.

You may kill the sting of the serpent that wounded you, you may heal the wound, but some people will always be examining the scar.

There is but little protection against slander, and usually the slanderer is an assassin and a coward, made so by his immunity from legal restraint. He generally has some worthless character in front of him in order to evade both legal and personal accountability.

Such is the eager love of scandal so innumerable, doubtful, and irresponsible are its sources among the masses, that it is almost next to impossible to win a suit for damages or to criminally prosecute the slanderer. Slander is an evil genius, a cunning fiend which stabs its prey at noon day and springs upon its victim at midnight.

A slander is of all things the hardest to prove in court or to punish when proved, and consequently the shot gun and the revolver are often resorted to among men as the only remedy.

Christ himself was slandered and we try to bear it like our Lord, for deep down in hottest hell, where dwells the foulest devils, will be the eternal abode of the serpent tongued slanderer.

The treatment of slander is an important consideration. The slandered man occupies a difficult position. He needs most of all the grace of patience and forbearance, of fortitude and courage. Never be in too big a hurry, and never pay any attention unless dignity and duty demand vindication, and when vindication is impossible, wait on God. Never brush off fresh mud from your clothes. Let it dry.

Slander will run its course after while, and though we may never be pronounced innocent by all, yet character untainted will shine again like the sun through the clouds even if the sky never becomes altogether clear.

Socrates said slanders do not hurt me, because they do not hit me, but we do not all have the rugged mountain grandeur of Socrates.

Slanders do hit and hurt some innocent people, sometimes read families and churches and neighborhoods, leaving for awhile the desolation of the cyclone in their track, and often it takes manhood and christianity to leave aside tardy law and rash acts, and wait until the storm passes over. The surest method against this evil is to live it down by perseverance in well doing, and by prayer to God that he will cure the distempered mind of those who traduce and injure us.

After all, God and time and well doing are the best remedy for slander, so far as it may here be cured, do good for evil, bless for cursing, forgive and forbear this is the cure of Jesus.

No cross ever won a brighter crown, if borne for Jesus sake. It is comfort, to know that the birds pick at the best and highest fruit which grows upon the tree.

The best and greatest people on earth are slandered and only the good and the useful can be.

AUSPICIOUS OPENING OF SCHOOL

The Towns Chief Enterprise Launches Forth For Fall 1917.

The Marion Graded and High School opened Monday morning with a large attendance in all the grades and in the high school. As had been previously announced, the first chapel exercises of the year were held in the School Auditorium at 9:30. The High School Orchestra which has for years past helped to make the school here known as one of the best in this part of the state, was at its post of duty. The leader, Miss Lucile Pope, who has been spending the summer in the west, came home Sunday that she might be present at the first chapel exercises of the year. The devotional exercises were led by Rev. Escott after which splendid talks were made by Revs. Short and Trotter. A short talk was also given by Mr. Brown, Vice Pres., of the Kentucky Anti-Saloon League.

Miss Ruby Asher, the new teacher of the third grade; Miss Irene Moredock, teacher of the fifth grade; Miss Era Debo, teacher of the seventh grade; Miss Marjory Craig and Mr. Foster, the new high school teachers, were introduced. All of them made short talks in which they expressed their pleasure at being in Marion and assured the pupils and the patrons of their interest in anything which might be undertaken to make the school better. Mr. Franklin was then called on for a speech and in a few well chosen words he urged that the patrons continue to co-operate with the teachers as they have always done and continue to make Marion "the school" of this part of the state. Both Mr. Franklin and Mr. Christian reminded the district of the urgent need of more room and insisted that the people of Marion recognize the fact that this is the golden opportunity for building a school house to meet the needs of the people. Mr. Christian outlined in a brief way the work for the year and called attention to some things in the way of school improvement that those interested in the school might do. He was enthusiastic over the outlook for the year. The interest manifested by the pupils and that shown by the patrons of the school by the presence Monday is indicative of another splendid year's work. The Record-Press as it has always done, will continue to stand by it and for it in whatever it undertakes and will be glad to lend a helping hand at any time.

Tree Disease Threatens Vast Loss to Nation's Timber Resources

By CHARLES LATHROP PACK
President of the American Forestry Association

An enemy from Germany—the white pine blister disease—has invaded the United States, occupied all of New England and driven into Canada; it has thrust forward across the New York state line despite the most vigorous efforts to check it. Columbia and Essex counties are now virtually in its hands, and all the remainder of the state is threatened. The disease has been discovered and defeated in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, but has made a strong advance out West and occupied territory along the southern state line between Wisconsin and Minnesota. Ohio has been invaded.

But this is not all. The progress of the disease has been astonishingly rapid wherever it has been allowed to gain a foothold. The great Northwest and the rich Pacific coast are now threatened, while an advance southward and westward toward the Mississippi is almost certain.

What is this foe? What is this invasion, and what does it mean to the man in the street?

The white pine blister disease is a wood canker which kills our famous white pine trees and would doubtless also kill our valuable sugar pines and all five-leaved pines to which it might spread. It is sometimes called the white pine rust from the rusty appearance of the "blisters." Eight or ten years ago the disease was unknown in this country. It came secretly, no one knows exactly how or when, and it worked secretly until it was established. Then it spread. In some places it was stamped out, in others no headway was made against it, and it has continued to spread, spread, spread, till in less than a decade it has become a great national menace.

The white pine blister disease not only threatens to wipe out hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of valuable pine trees; it also threatens the currant and gooseberry bushes of the regions where it has obtained a hold. The disease, which is a fungus growth, cannot travel from pine tree to pine tree. It goes from a pine to a currant or gooseberry bush, develops there, and leaves the currant bush to attack another pine, which, once infected with the disease, faces death.

What Will United States Do to Meet Wartime Tuberculosis Problem?

By DR. GEORGE T. PALMER
President Illinois Tuberculosis Association

One of the tragic conditions in Europe at the present time is the unusual prevalence of tuberculosis among the soldiers and the civil population; and one of the signal mistakes on the part of the warring nations was that none of them foresaw or made preparations for this calamity. It could have been prevented to a large extent by the exclusion of tuberculous persons from the army through more careful examinations of recruits and by protecting persons with tuberculous tendencies from the tremendous physical and mental stress of modern warfare. It could have been ameliorated by the provision of hospital and sanatorium facilities, the development of an extensive dispensary and visiting-nurse service, the creation of farm colonies and by keeping intact, instead of dissipating, the existing agencies for fighting this important modern war disease.

With these things neglected, tuberculosis now actually threatens to decimate France. Its ravages in Belgium are horrible. Austria-Hungary, Russia, Italy and Germany are feeling the stinging of the white plague, and England, although better prepared, all the rest is finding tuberculosis an enormous wartime problem.

France is now struggling under the burden of a half-million of her people crippled by the wounds of battle and another half-million suffering from active tuberculosis. Of her soldiers, 100,000 have been returned actively tubercular, and France, now working frantically, hopes to have 15,000 sanatorium beds by the end of the year to care for these consumptives. Belgium has seen her actively tuberculous population increased between 100 and 200 per cent in the past two years.

What will the United States, with facilities for the care of tuberculosis hopelessly inadequate in times of peace—what will the United States do to meet her wartime tuberculosis problem?

Present Hour Is the Greatest in History For Women of the World

By MRS. RAYMOND ROBINS
President of National Women's Trade Union League of America

Wonderful as this hour is for democracy and labor, it is the greatest hour in history for the women of the world.

After centuries of discrimination women are coming into the labor and festival of life on equal terms with men. Woman's labor in the field feeds the soldiers on the firing line. Woman's labor in factories and mills feeds the cannon in the trenches. Woman's labor in shops and stores feeds the homes of Europe.

Canada, Russia, America, and even England will have an enfranchised womanhood when this war is over.

Transforming Power of Just War Demonstrated on College Campus

By JOHN GRIER HIBBEN, President of Princeton University

No one who has lived on a college campus since the declaration of war with Germany can doubt the transforming power of a commanding cause. As if by a magic touch, all the fine promise of young manhood has been suddenly matured in the splendid beginnings of its power.

I believe that the cause to which our nation has committed itself is a just cause. It is a war against war, to bring to an end the misery of the struggle abroad and inaugurate the new era of permanent peace.

We feel our position justified, because the issues at stake are not merely those of democracy and liberty, but the very fundamental principles upon which democracy must rest and liberty find its justification—the elemental distinctions between right and wrong, good and evil, justice and injustice.
